About KERRY

Kerry Morrison is a proud Aboriginal woman and an experienced social worker, corporate speaker, counsellor, coach, supervisor, trainer and facilitator.

Based in Western Australia, she works for government and private enterprise, not-for-profits, and Aboriginal Corporations across all industries.

Kerry is an authentic role model who 'walks the talk.' Passionate about inclusion, support and respect, she collaborates effectively with people from all walks of life, and all cultural backgrounds. Kerry completed her Honours thesis on the school leaving experiences of young adults with autism.

Empowerment is about choice and control.

"Sometimes people need you to walk alongside them. Empowerment is the key; I don't want to do for a person what they can do for themselves. I aim to help them grow whilst strengthening their sense of identity.

For people to feel empowered, it's important not to make the jump too big. Breaking it down into smaller, manageable steps enhances the voice that people already have, and leads to successful outcomes." - Kerry

Services

CORPORATE SPEAKING

Kerry is an engaging, dynamic, and inspiring speaker who is often invited to present keynote addresses, plenary sessions, and break-out sessions in her areas of expertise.

With a wealth of knowledge and experience to draw on, Kerry can tailor her presentation to align with the theme of the conference or learning objectives. She has addressed audiences of all sizes – from small groups to over 700 people, typically ranging from 20 to 50 minute presentations.

Please enquire early for specific dates. Fees are determined on application, plus travel and accommodation expenses if required.

WORKSHOP FACILITATION

A qualified trainer and assessor, Kerry has the expertise and the confidence to develop skills in human services, disability, allied health, cultural awareness, and conflict management.

Whether providing workplace training, leading group discussions, or co-facilitating alongside others, Kerry brings a culturally safe perspective and a high level of respect for diversity. She acknowledges people's different learning styles and tailors her material accordingly.

PARENTING PROGRAMS

Kerry specialises in working with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander mums & bubs. Kerry is an accredited Bringing Up Great Kids facilitator.

THERAPY, COUNSELLING, HYPNOTHERAPY & PERSONAL COACHING

An experienced trauma informed social worker and life coach, Kerry provides 1:1 sessions in person or online. She is caring and empathetic, and meets people where they are at. In the case of counselling and coaching young people, she can give appropriate feedback with her client's permission to loved ones.

CLINICAL SUPERVISION

Kerry is passionate about upskilling the workforce with a focus on professional development and training, self-care plans, and opportunities for improvement. She works with Aboriginal liaison health workers, NDIS/disability/neuro diversity staff and support workers. Kerry has an MOU with the palliative care team of the WA Country Health Service.
